CHAPTER OVERVIEW

1. INTRODUCTION

GST is payable (i) on supply of goods or services or both for a consideration in the course of or furtherance of business; (ii) on certain supplies made without a consideration as specified in Schedule I to the CGST Act.

Value of Supply

As GST is an ad valorem levy, i.e. it is levied as a percentage of the value of supply of goods or services or both, it becomes important to know how to arrive at the value on which tax is to be paid. Provisions relating to 'value of supply' set out the mechanism to compute such value basis on which CGST and SGST/UTGST (intra-State supply), or IGST (inter-State supply) should be paid.

Section 15 of the CGST Act supplemented with CGST rules given under Chapter IV of the CGST Rules: Determination of Value¹ prescribes the provisions for determining the value of supply of goods and services. There are common provisions for determining the value of the supply of goods and services.

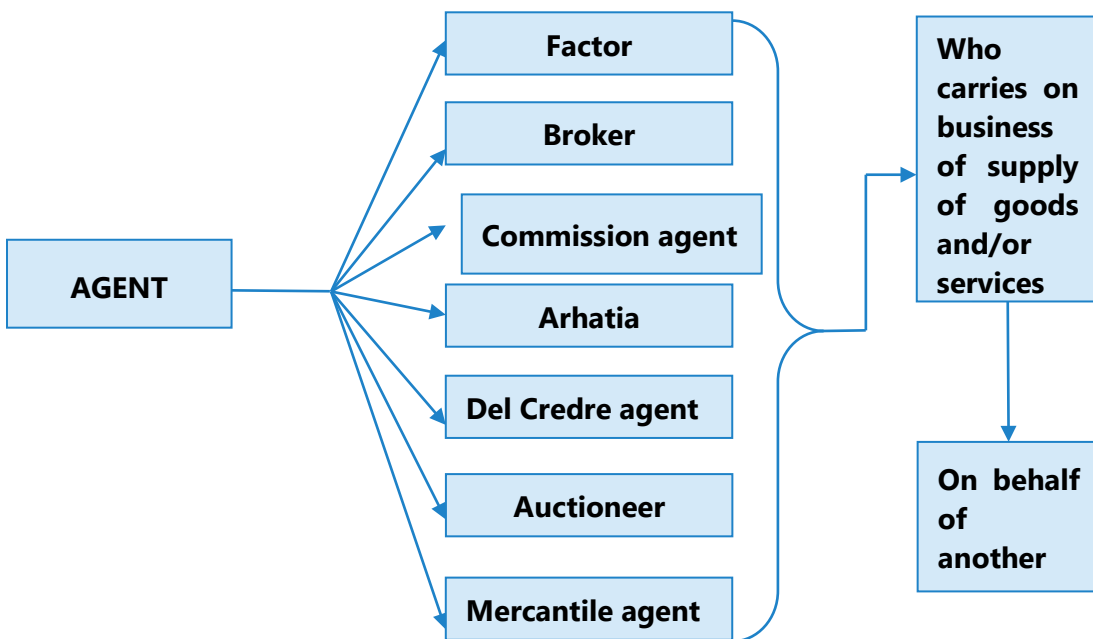

Sub-section (1) of section 15 provides the mechanism for determining the value of a supply which is made between unrelated persons and when price and only the price is the sole consideration for the supply. When value cannot be determined under section 15(1) as also in certain specific cases, the same is determined using Chapter IV: Determination of Value of Supply of CGST Rules.

¹ Chapter IV: Determination of Value of Supply of the CGST Rules will be discussed at the Final level.

Provisions of value of supply under CGST Act have also been made applicable to IGST Act vide section 20 of the IGST Act.

ANALYSIS

The CGST law has different provisions for determining the value of a supply of goods or services or both in the following situations:

- ➔ Supplies made solely for a price in money (monetary consideration), to unrelated persons → Sub-section (1) of section 15;
- ➔ Supplies made solely for non-monetary consideration, or for part monetary consideration and part non-monetary consideration, or involving additional consideration, or to related persons, or for specific classes of supply → Sub-sections (4) and (5) of section 15 read with the Chapter IV: Determination of Value of Supply of CGST Rules.

The definition of 'related person' under the explanation to section 15 covers various situations of control, including sole agent, sole distributor and sole concessionaire. The concept of related person has been presented in a diagram given on next page.

Related persons [Explanation to section 15]

A. Supplies to unrelated persons where price is the sole consideration

(i) Transaction value [Section 15(1)]

When a transaction of supply of goods or services or both is made

- between two persons (see definition of “person”) who are not related to each other (see definition of “related person” in ‘Explanation’ to section 15), and
- price is the sole consideration (see definition of consideration) for the supply, the value of supply is the “transaction value”.

Under section 15(1), the transaction value which is applicable between unrelated persons where price is the sole consideration for the supply is - the price actually paid or payable for the said supply of goods or services or both.

This is the price for the specific supply that is being valued. It includes the amount already paid at the time the supply is being valued for tax, as well as the amount payable and not yet paid at that time. The word ‘payable’ refers to price that is agreed to be paid for the goods / services.

(1) Wholesale price for 1 MT of cement sold by X Ltd. in the ordinary course of business: ₹ 7,000. Price of 1 MT of cement sold by X Ltd. to unrelated customer Y: ₹ 6,700.

Value of supply made by X Ltd. to Y is ₹ 6,700 which is the price actually paid or payable and not the wholesale price.

★ The value of taxable supply of goods and services shall ordinarily be the 'transaction value' which is the price paid or payable, when the parties are not related and price is the sole consideration. Section 15 further elaborates various inclusions and exclusions from the ambit of transaction value. For example, the transaction value shall not include discount allowed subject to certain conditions.

(ii) Inclusions in value [Section 15(2)]

The value of supply includes certain elements which are enumerated and discussed below.

- ❑ Taxes, duties, cesses, fees and charges other than CGST, SGST, UTGST, GST Compensation Cess, if charged separately
- ❑ Payments to third parties → Any amount that the supplier is liable to pay in relation to supply but which has been incurred by the recipient of the supply and not already included in the price.
- ❑ Incidental expenses, such as, commission and packing, charged by the supplier to the recipient of a supply
- ❑ Any amount charged for anything done by the supplier in respect of the supply of goods and/or services at the time of, or before delivery of goods /supply of services.
- ❑ Interest or late fee or penalty for delayed payment of consideration
- ❑ Subsidies, directly linked to the price, other than subsidies given by the Central Government or State Governments

The above elements are discussed below.

Taxes other than GST & GST Compensation Cess [Section 15(2)(a)]

Any taxes, duties, cesses, fees and charges levied under any law for the time being in force except the CGST Act, the SGST Act, the UTGST Act and the GST (Compensation to States) Act, if charged separately by the supplier, are includible in the value of supply. In the case of inter-State supply liable to IGST, the value of supply will include taxes other than IGST and the GST Compensation Cess in terms of third proviso to section 20 of IGST Act. In effect, all the taxes, duties etc. which are not subsumed in GST form part of the taxable value for the purpose of levying GST.

For instance, if a supplier of goods pays municipal tax in relation to the goods being supplied and charges the same separately, such tax will form part of the value of supply.

TCS under Income-Tax Act, 1961 not includible in the taxable value for the purpose of GST: The CBIC vide Circular No. 76/50/2018 GST dated 31.12.2018 (amended vide corrigendum dated 7.03.2019) has clarified that for the purpose of determination of value of supply under GST, tax collected at source (TCS) under the provisions of the Income Tax Act, 1961 would not be includible as it is an interim levy not having the character of tax.

Payments made to third parties by the recipient on behalf of the supplier in relation to the supply [Section 15(2)(b)]

A supplier may need to incur various expenses to make a particular supply of goods/services. In the normal course, he would pay these amounts and they would form part of the price that he charges from the customer (recipient of supply). However, even if the customer makes direct payment of some of such liabilities (of the supplier) to the third parties, and the supplier does not include this amount in his bill, it will still form part of the value of the supply.

A point to note here is that amount paid by the recipient to third parties will be added to the value under this clause only when the supplier is under contractual liability to make payment to such third parties and the said payment is in relation to such supply.

(2) Grand Biz contracts with ABC Co. to conduct a dealers' meet. In furtherance of this, Grand Biz contracts with vendors to deliver goods / services, like water, soft drinks, audio system, projector, catering, flowers etc. at the venue on the stipulated dates at the stipulated prices. Grand Biz is liable to make these payments as contracted.

The soft drinks supplier wants payment upon delivery; ABC Co. agrees to pay the bill raised by the soft drinks vendor on Grand Biz, on receiving the crates of soft drinks. This amount is not billed by Grand Biz to ABC Co. However, it would be added to the value of supply provided by Grand Biz to ABC Co. for payment of GST.

Yogrishi rents out a commercial building owned by him in Sanskriti Society, Noida, U.P. to Bhaarat for a monthly rent of ₹ 1,00,000. He pays municipal tax of ₹ 20,000 which he has not recovered from Bhaarat. Yogrishi also pays the maintenance charges of ₹ 5,000 (reimbursed to him by Bhaarat) for the month as charged by the Society. The value of supply for the month of January is _____. All the amounts given hereunder are exclusive of GST.

(a) ₹ 1,00,000	(b) ₹ 1,20,000	(c) ₹ 1,25,000	(d) ₹ 1,05,000

Incidental expenses [Section 15(2)(c)]

Incidental expenses, such as commission and packing charged by the supplier or anything else done by the supplier in relation to the supply at the time of or before delivery of goods or supply of services must be added to value.

(3) Commission: This may be paid to an agent and recovered from the buyer of the goods / services; this is part of the value of the supply.

(4) Packing, if charged by the supplier to the recipient, is similarly part of the value of the supply.

(5) Inspection or certification charges is another element that will be added to the value, if incurred before/at the time of supply and billed to the recipient of supply.

(6) Installation and testing charges at the recipient's site will also be added, being an amount charged for something done by the supplier in respect of the supply, at the time of making the supply.

(7) Weightment charges, loading charges, designing charges etc. incurred before/at the time of supply will be added to the value, if billed to the recipient of supply.

Sapiant Ltd., registered under GST, supplies machinery used for making bottle caps to Chandra Ltd. at a price of ₹ 42,00,000 (excluding all taxes and other expenses). Apart from the price of the machinery, Sapiant Ltd. charges from the customer the associated handling and loading charges of ₹ 10,000 and installation and commissioning charges of ₹ 1,00,000. The value of supply of machinery is _____.

(a) ₹ 42,00,000

(b) ₹ 43,10,000

(c) ₹ 43,00,000

(d) ₹ 42,10,000

Outward freight, transit insurance

Where the supplier agrees to deliver the goods at the buyer's premises and arranges for transport and insurance, the contract of supply becomes a composite supply; the principal supply being the supply of goods. Therefore, outward freight and transit insurance become part of the value of the composite supply and GST is payable thereon at the same rate as applicable for the relevant goods. However, if the contract for supply is on ex-factory basis where buyer pays the outward freight and insurance, the same will not be included in the value of supply of goods.

Interest, late fee or penalty for delayed payment [Section 15(2)(d)]

The value for a supply will include not only the base price but also the charges for delay in payment.

(8) A supply priced at ₹ 2,000 is made, with a credit period of 1 month for payment. Thereafter, interest @ 12% p.a. is chargeable. The payment is received after the lapse of two months from the date of supply. The amount of interest @ 12% p.a. (i.e. 1% per month) on ₹ 2,000 for one month after the free credit period of one month, is ₹ 20. Such interest will be added to the value and thus, the value of supply will work out to be ₹ 2,020, assuming the interest to be exclusive of GST.

 ★ Time of supply for such interest/ late fee/ penalty is the date when such amount is received by the supplier. Further, since such charges are an addition in the value of supply, same rate of tax as applicable on the main supply of goods/ service are applicable on such charges as well.

Bhoora Ltd., a registered supplier in Surat, Gujarat sold goods to Kaala Ltd. of Delhi on 6th April for ₹ 5,00,000 (excluding GST) with a condition that if Kaala Ltd. failed to make payment within 30 days of the delivery of the goods, interest @ 2% per month on said price of ₹ 5,00,000 will be charged for the period of delay. Goods were delivered and the invoice was issued, on 5th April. Kaala Ltd. paid the consideration for the goods on 20th May along with applicable interest. Kaala Ltd. refused to pay any tax payable on the interest amount. Applicable rate of GST in this case is 18%. The value of supply, in the given case, is _____.

(a) ₹ 5,00,000	(b) ₹ 5,05,000	(c) ₹ 5,04,237	(d) ₹ 5,95,900

Subsidies linked with price [Section 15(2)(e)]

Subsidy is a sum of money given to keep the price of a service or commodity low. The subsidy is added to the value of supply of the supplier who receives the subsidy. It must be noted that only subsidies directly linked to the price of goods/services are added to the value. Blanket subsidy/donation received are not includible in the value. Note that if the subsidy is given by the State or Central Government, it is not to be added to the value of supply.

 (9) The selling price of a notebook is ₹ 50. For notebooks sold to students in Government schools, a company receives price linked subsidy of ₹ 30 per notebook from an NGO, so that the students pay only ₹ 20 per notebook. The value of the notebook will be ₹ 50, as this is a non-government subsidy. If the same subsidy is given/granted by the Central Government or State Government, the value of the notebook would be ₹ 20.

(b) ₹ 2,50,000;
₹ 12,50,000

₹ 11,50,000

(d) ₹ 3,00,000;
₹ 12,00,000

(iii) Exclusion of discounts from value [Section 15(3)]

Discounts are a common phenomenon for businesses. Numerous kinds of discounts are given by the suppliers to their customers, namely, trade discounts, cash discounts, quantity/volume/performance discounts etc. Such discounts are reduced from the sale price of the supply. Since the value of a taxable supply is the transaction value, GST is leviable on the value after deducting the discounts.

However, not all discounts offered by the supplier to their customers are allowed as a deduction from the value. Only such discounts which satisfy the conditions prescribed in section 15(3), are allowed as deduction from the value. The essence of the conditions prescribed in section 15(3) is that the price as established at the time of supply should form the basis of value. The discounts which do not fulfill the conditions specified in section 15(3) are not deductible from the value, i.e. GST in such a case is levied on the gross value of the supply without considering the discount.

Discounts that are allowed as deduction from the value are as follows:

- (a) Discounts given before or at the time of supply and shown in the tax invoice— Example for such discount can be discounts that are offered for making the payment at the time of supply itself. Such discounts are thus, recorded in the invoice and thus, GST is charged on the gross value less discount duly recorded in the invoice.

- (b) Post supply discounts- It is not always commercially feasible to determine all discounts before or at the time of supply or record them in the invoice. For instance, cash discount given for making the payment within a stipulated time. Even though the discount is established before/at the time of supply, the supplier cannot record such discount in the invoice as he does not know if the buyer will make the payment within the stipulated time.

Likewise, in case of quantity/volume/performance discount also, the supplier is not aware before/at the time of supply as to whether the buyer would purchase the requisite quantity within the stipulated time. Therefore, in this case also, the discount cannot be recorded in the invoice.

In such cases, initially the GST is paid on the gross value indicated in the invoice without considering the discount. The supplier, however, passes the discount to the buyers subsequently by issuing credit notes.

Post supply discounts, i.e. the discounts that are given after supply is made, are allowed as a deduction from the value of supply if the following two conditions are satisfied:

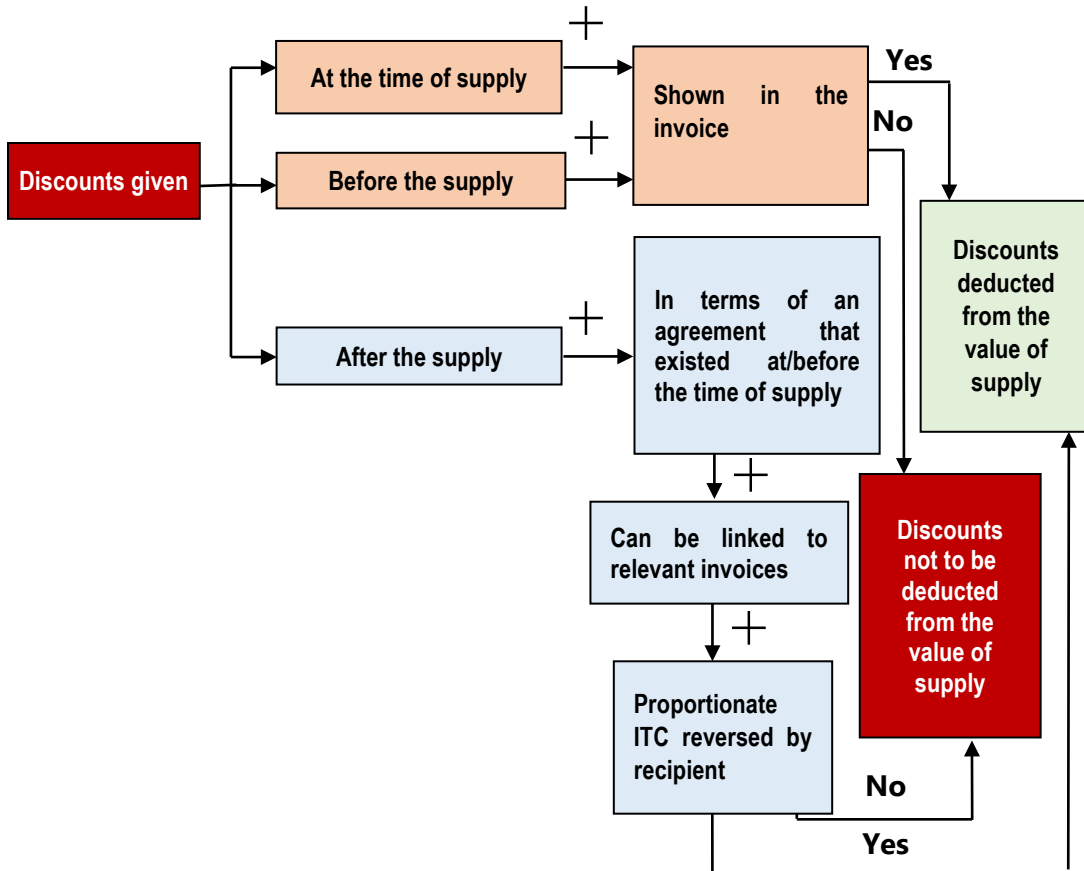

- ✓ Discount is in terms of an agreement that existed at the time of supply and can be worked out invoice-wise; and
- ✓ Proportionate input tax credit is reversed by the recipient - The buyer would have availed input tax credit (ITC) of GST payable on the gross value specified in the invoice. Thus, when a credit note² is issued to him by the supplier for the discount, the buyer will reverse the proportionate credit; consequent to which, the supplier's output tax liability will be reduced by the same amount.

If any of the above conditions are not satisfied, the GST liability of supplier cannot be reduced. The supplier, however, can issue a commercial credit note³ for the value of discount. In such a scenario, the buyer will not be required to reverse any input tax credit.

The provisions relating to allowability of discount as a deduction from the value have been depicted by way of a diagram given below.

² Credit notes governed under GST law are issued under section 34. Provisions of section 34 are discussed in Chapter 10: Tax Invoice; Credit & Debit Notes in Module 2 of this Study Material.

Allowability of certain specific types of discounts offered by the suppliers as clarified vide Circular No. 92/11/2019 GST dated 07.03.2019

(i) Staggered discounts ('Buy more, Save more' offers): In case of staggered discounts, rate of discount increases with increase in purchase volume. For example – One may get 10 % discount for purchases above ₹ 5,000/-, 20% discount for purchases above ₹ 10,000/- and 30% discount for purchases above ₹ 20,000/-. Such discounts are shown on the invoice itself.

Such discounts are excluded to determine the value of supply.

(ii) Periodic/year ending discounts/volume discounts: These discounts are offered by the suppliers to their stockists, etc. For example- Get additional discount of 1% if you purchase 10,000 pieces in a year, get additional discount of 2% if you purchase 15,000 pieces in a year. Such discounts are established in terms of an agreement entered into at or before the time of supply though not shown on the invoice as the actual quantum of such discounts gets determined after the supply has been effected and generally at the year end. In commercial parlance, such discounts are colloquially referred to as "volume discounts". Such discounts are passed on by the supplier through credit notes.

Such discounts are excluded to determine the value of supply provided they satisfy the parameters laid down in section 15(3), including the reversal of ITC by the recipient of the supply as is attributable to the discount on the basis of document(s) issued by the supplier.

(iii) Secondary discounts: These are the discounts which are not known at the time of supply or are offered after the supply is already over. For example, M/s A supplies 10,000 packets of biscuits to M/s B at ₹ 10/- per packet. Afterwards, M/s A re-values it at ₹ 9/- per packet. Subsequently, M/s A issues credit note to M/s B for ₹ 1/- per packet.

Such secondary discounts shall not be excluded while determining the value of supply as such discounts are not known at the time of supply and the conditions laid down in section 15(3)(b) are not satisfied.

It may be noted that financial / commercial credit note(s) can be issued by the supplier even if the conditions mentioned in section 15(3)(b) are not satisfied. Such credit notes do not include GST, and do not have any impact on value of supply for the purposes of GST.

Examples of discount deductible from value of supply

(10) Royal Biscuit Co. gives a discount of 30% on the list price to its distributors. Thus, for a carton of Spice biscuit, in the tax invoice the list price is mentioned as ₹ 200, on which a discount of 30% is given to arrive at the final price of ₹ 140. The value is ₹ 140, as the discount is allowed at the time of supply and shown in the invoice.

Post supply discounts

(11) The agreement of Raju Electrical Appliances with its dealers is that purchase of rice cookers over 1000 pieces in the Diwali month will entitle them to discount of 5% per cooker. Therefore, the quantum of discount can be determined only at the end of Diwali month. However, since the agreement relating to discount was in existence at the time of supply, and the discount can be worked out for each invoice, such post supply discount shall be allowed as a deduction from the value of supply of rice cookers.

Raju Electrical Appliances can issue credit note for discount of 5% of the value of goods along with GST and claim adjustment of excess tax paid. The dealer must reverse the proportionate input tax credit on the relevant stock to bring it in line with the reduced tax.

(12) Pink and Blue Pvt. Ltd. (PBPL) sold goods to Orange Pvt. Ltd. (OPL) on 15th January at ₹ 50,000 (exclusive of taxes and discounts) and charged ₹ 9,000 as IGST @ 18%. The terms of supply stipulated that discount @ 2% will be given to OPL if it makes the payment within one month of the supply. OPL avails the input tax credit of ₹ 9,000 in the month of January and makes the payment for the goods on 10th February. PBPL issues credit note for ₹ 1180 [₹ 1,000 for value of discount and ₹ 180 for proportionate IGST leviable thereon] to OPL on 11th February. After receiving credit note, OPL reverses the input tax credit of ₹ 180 attributable to the discount given by the PBPL. PBPL can reduce its GST liability of the month of February by ₹ 180. OPL would have paid ₹ 57,820 (₹ 50,000 + ₹ 9,000 - ₹ 1,000 - ₹ 180) to PBPL on 10th February.

Examples of discount not deductible from value of supply

(13) In the above example, if the terms of supply did not provide for discount @ 2% for payment within one month but PBPL offers such discount to OPL at the time of payment after negotiation, the discount will not be allowed as a deduction from the value. PBPL will issue a commercial credit note for only the value of discount, i.e. for ₹ 1,000. OPL will not reverse any input tax credit and PBPL will also not be able to reduce its GST liability for the month of February. In this case, OPL would pay ₹ 58,000 (₹ 50,000 + ₹ 9,000 - ₹ 1,000) to PBPL on 10th February.

(14) A company announces turnover discounts after reviewing dealer performance during the year. The discounts are based on performance slabs and are given as cash-back. As these discounts were not known at the time of supply of the goods, they will not be deducted from value of those goods. Hence, the company will not be able to adjust excess tax paid from its tax liability.

No Claim Bonus permissible as deduction under section 15(3)(a) for the purpose of calculation of value of supply of the insurance services provided by insurance company to insured

The issue which arose for clarification was whether 'No Claim Bonus' (NCB) provided by the insurance company to the insured can be considered as an admissible discount for the purpose of determination of value of supply of insurance service provided by the insurance company to the insured.

The insurance companies make the disclosure of the fact of availability of discount in form of NCB, subject to certain conditions, to the insured in the insurance policy document itself and also provide the details of the NCB in the invoices also. The pre-disclosure of NCB amount in the policy documents and specific mention of the discount in form of NCB in the invoice is in consonance with the conditions laid down for deduction of discount from the value of supply under section 15(3)(a).

Since as per section 15(3)(a), value of supply shall not include any discount which is given before or at the time of supply if such discount has been duly recorded in the invoice issued in respect of such supply, it is, therefore, clarified that NCB is a permissible deduction under said section for the purpose of calculation of value of supply of the insurance services provided by the insurance company to the insured.

Accordingly, where the deduction on account of NCB is provided in the invoice issued by the insurer to the insured, GST shall be leviable on actual insurance premium amount, payable by the policy holders to the insurer, after deduction of NCB mentioned on the invoice⁴.

Samriddhi Advertisers conceptualised and designed the advertising campaign for a new product launched by New Moon Pvt Ltd. for a consideration of ₹ 5,00,000. Samriddhi Advertisers owed ₹ 20,000 to one of its vendors in relation to the advertising service provided by it to New Moon Pvt Ltd. Such liability of Samriddhi Advertisers was discharged by New Moon Pvt Ltd. New Moon Pvt Ltd. delayed the payment of consideration and thus, paid ₹ 15,000 as interest. Assume the rate of GST to be 18%.

Determine the value of taxable supply made by Samriddhi Advertisers.

ANSWERComputation of value of taxable supply

Particulars	₹
Service charges	5,00,000
Payment made by New Moon Pvt. Ltd to vendor of Samriddhi Advertisers [Liability of the supplier being discharged by the recipient, is includible in the value in terms of section 15(2)(b)]	20,000

Interest for delay in payment of consideration [Includible in the value in terms of section 15(2)(d) [Refer note below] [₹15,000 × (100/118)] (rounded off)	12,712
Value of taxable supply	5,32,712

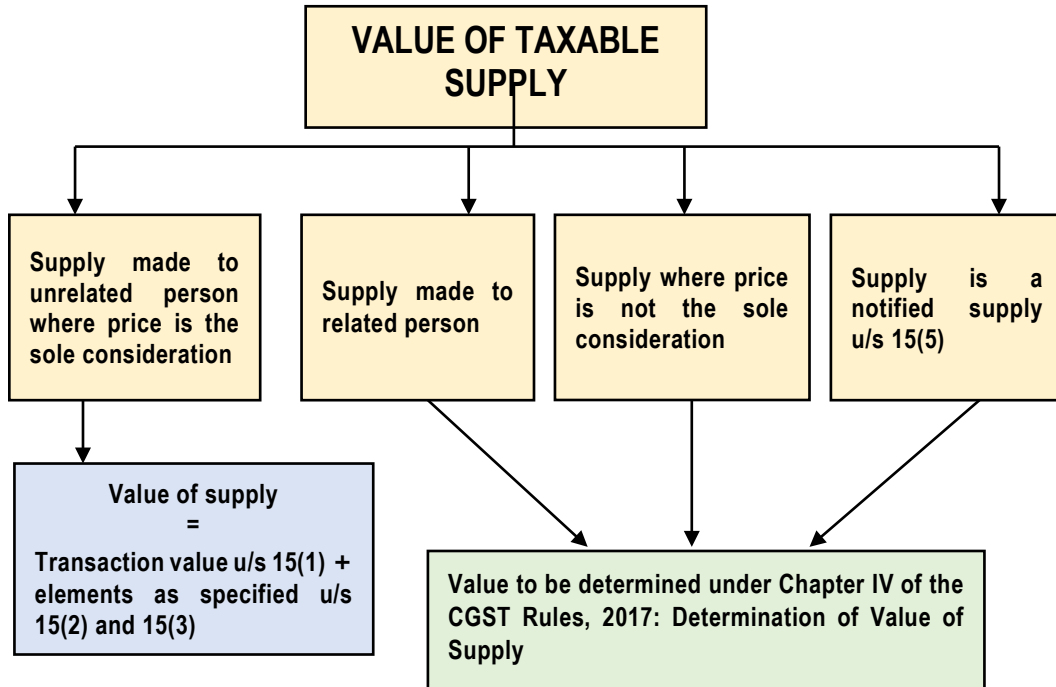

Note: The interest for delay in payment of consideration will be includible in the value of supply but the time of supply of such interest will be the date when such interest is received in terms of section 13(6). Such interest has been assumed to be inclusive of GST and thus, the value has been computed by making back calculations $\left[\frac{\text{Interest}}{100 + \text{tax rate}} \times 100 \right]$. It is also possible to assume the interest to be exclusive of GST. In that case, the value of supply will work out to be ₹5,35,000.

The scheme of valuation as provided under section 15 is depicted by way of a diagram given below:

ANSWERS/HINTS

1. No, the post-supply discounts are not eligible for deduction from the value of supplies in all situations. Such discounts are allowed as a deduction from the value of supply only in the situations where the following two conditions are satisfied cumulatively:
 - (i) The discount is in terms of an agreement that existed at or before the time of supply and can be worked out invoice-wise; and
 - (ii) Proportionate input tax credit (ITC) is reversed by the recipient - The buyer would have availed ITC of GST payable on the gross value specified in the invoice. Thus, when a credit note is issued to him by the supplier for the discount, the buyer will reverse the proportionate credit; consequent to which, the supplier's output tax liability will be reduced by the same amount.

If any of the above conditions are not satisfied, post-supply discount is not allowed as a deduction from the value of supply and consequently, GST liability of the supplier does not get reduced.

2. The statement is correct. As per the definition of the term 'consideration' provided under the CGST Act, consideration under the GST law includes both payment in money or otherwise made by the recipient or any other person and also takes within its sweep the monetary value of any act or forbearance, by the recipient or any other person for the supply. Further, it includes within its ambit any deposit which is applied as a consideration for the supply but excludes the subsidies provided by the State or Central Government.

The term 'money' has also been defined under the CGST Act and it not only includes cash (Indian as well as foreign currency) but also cheque, promissory note, bill of exchange, letter of credit, draft, pay order, traveler's cheque, money order, postal/electronic remittance or any such similar instrument recognized by RBI when used as a consideration to settle an obligation or exchange with Indian legal tender of another denomination but shall not include any currency that is held for its numismatic value. Non-monetary consideration essentially means consideration in kind.

3. As per section 15(2)(e), the value of a supply includes subsidies directly linked to the price, excluding subsidies provided by the State Governments and the Central Government.

In the given case, though the subsidy is given by a non-Government body, the same is not includible in the value as it is given in lumpsum and not directly linked to the price of the supply being valued. Therefore, the value of supply made by Sharp Minds during the month is ₹ 3,00,000.

4. In the given case, the showroom is not charging any amount towards freight from Ms. Leena but incurring the same out of its own pocket. Therefore, the same should not be added to the value. Hence, the value of supply will be ₹ 2,00,000.

However, the answer will change in the second case when the showroom will charge ₹ 300 for freight $[(50\text{km} - 20\text{ km}) \times ₹ 10]$ from Ms. Leena. In this case, the supply will be a composite supply (principal supply being the supply of furniture) and value thereof will be ₹ 2,00,300.

5. Section 15(2) mandates addition of certain elements in the value of supply. Clause (c) of section 15(2) specifies that the amount charged for anything done by the supplier in respect of the supply at the time of or before delivery of goods or supply of services shall be included in the value of supply.

Since AKJ Foods Pvt. Ltd. does the testing before the delivery of goods, the charges therefor will be included in the value of the supply. Therefore, AKJ Foods Pvt. Ltd.'s argument is not correct. The testing fee should be included in the price to arrive at value of supply.

6. This is a supply that is valued as per transaction value under section 15(1) as price is the sole consideration for the supply and the supply is made to unrelated person. The value of a supply includes interest for delayed payment of any consideration for any supply. However, the time of supply to the extent it relates to an addition in the value of supply by way of interest for delayed payment of any consideration is the date on which the supplier receives such addition in value. In the given case, the supplier has waived the interest for delayed payment. Consequently, the supplier has not received the interest. Therefore, notional interest for 2 days shall not be included in the value of the supply.

7. The discounts were not known or agreed for at the time of supply of goods to the dealers. Therefore, in terms of section 15(3), such discounts cannot be reduced from the price on which tax had been paid.
